

Why I like my school

For me my school is the garden where I have flowered under the protection of my teachers. It is my second home and also a whole world. I have spent the most splendid years of my life in my school. My school life is a unique experience and I will never forget it as long as I live.

First comes our family where we learn our values and good manners. A step ahead we start going to the play group. That is our first introduction to the social world outside our house. Then is our entry to the Jr.Kg the most enjoyable stage of life. I vividly remember the day I set foot in my school, Dr Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan Vidyalaya. I was fascinated to see so many other student of my own age. I started looking forward to spending more and more days in my school.

Then I entered the primary section. I loved the way my teachers used to treat me in a caring and understanding manner. It was here where we were actually taught about English, Math and E.V.S. We had spent many happy and memorable moments in school which has left a lasting impression on my mind. It takes some time for us to settle down but we are always made comfortable and helped by our loving and adorable teachers. Each and every year we have new teachers but one thing I find common in all- teachers is their same affectionate and supportive behavior.

Then we entered the secondary the next and interesting phase of our life. The teachers are stricter. We have to become more mature, understanding and disciplined. The level of our school work also has increased. Sometimes there is a question of punishments in school. I always enjoy the time when the recess bell rings at 9:30 a.m. There is always a great hustle and bustle. Boys and girls plunge headlong into quick games in the school grounds. A few sit in the classroom open their tiffin boxes eat, chat and laugh.

The way a potter will mould the pot, the same way the pot will take its shape. In the same way school helps in formation of character. It is the place where our hidden natural abilities bloom like flowers and we are nurtured upon by our teachers like young infants. Our teachers work very hard for us, sometimes by sitting late in school after their teaching hours are over. We enjoy seeing various scientific experiments in the science laboratory. The library is the place where I spend most of my time. It has hundreds of books which I love to read. We also enjoy annual day, sports day and student council elections.

Our school encourages and motivates us- be it during successful times or in despairing times . Our school is always teaching us to be confident and act in a courageous manner. Doubtlessly this concept is conveyed very well through our values “Reasoning, Sensitivity, Integrity and Courage.” I would like to say to my school-“BCG ROCKS....”
